NORTH WOODSTOCK.
Much credit is due the Billings boys work, given the postmistress at North Woodstock. It would do one good to wonder at their pleasant faces, as they and save in hand, after going through with nearly four cords of wood and leaving it under cover. Mrs. Edwards is worthy of and grateful for all favors that can be bestowed upon her.
George Brown's aunt from Massachusetts is visiting at their home.
John Sylvester has so far recovered as to be able to ride out.
A new arrival in the village—Charles Buck, third.
